

CONFLICT BEGAN IN EUROPE YEAR AGO TOMORROW

AP Staff Man Recalls Tension in London Year Ago Tonight

(Editor's Note: Tomorrow marks the anniversary of the first year of the European war. Present in London as English officials weighed developments which meant entry into the battle against Germany was J. C. Stark, who has written the following story describing the events for the Special News Service of the Associated Press. After covering the early months of the war, Stark returned to the United States and is now attached to the AP's Washington staff.)

By J. C. STARK

Washington, Aug. 31—(AP)—The lights burned late, a year ago tonight, in the dingy old Whitehall building in London that houses the British foreign office. They shone through windows uncovered by "blackout" curtains, piercing the darkness outside, as they have not done since.

Across Downing street at No. 10, the official residence of the prime minister, there was late activity, too, as there had been on an August night just a quarter-century before when a famous British statesman, Viscount Grey spoke the words that have echoed through the years:

"The lamps are going out all over Europe. We shall not see them lit again in our generation."

A year ago tonight was the twilight between peace and war.

Germany had issued the 16-point demands on Poland—demands which Berlin said it regarded as already rejected. Now almost forgotten, so tremendous have been the events that followed, the demands and the manner of their issuance in Berlin seemed to make war inevitable.

But crises had come and gone with such regularity that no one could be sure.

Newsmen Summoned

The British foreign office summoned a midnight press conference in the antique-looking taxicabs moving at a pace that seemed to lag behind the onrush of events, newsmen went to Whitehall, past the Cenotaph which commemorates Britain's World War dead, into narrow, short Downing street and then up the stairs to the foreign office press section.

The writer was among them.

It had been a long day, heavy with suspense and the threat of war. Evacuation of 3,000,000 children and aged and sick persons from London and other large cities was ordered. "No one should conclude," said the ministry of

Six Missing in Second North Carolina Flood

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 31—(AP)—Hundreds of persons were left homeless today as swirling flood waters swept over widespread areas in western North Carolina for the second time in less than a month.

Streams, swollen by torrential rains, reached record watermarks in many communities. At least six persons were reported missing. Property damage was expected to be high.

Co. Superintendent of Schools Quarters Restored as Planned

Carpenters have completed moving a temporary wall on the first floor section of the court house building which formerly housed the Lee county old age assistance department and the entire suite of rooms which was originally occupied by the County Superintendent of Schools' offices, has reverted to the use intended when the court house was erected. Two small rooms are to be used for the storage of supplies, including the room which has been used in the past as the private office and another room which was made available to the assistance department by removing a section of wall.

The temporary wall has been moved to provide a spacious office room for Superintendent Torrens and another large room will serve as a reception room as well as the office of Mrs. Allan Reed, assistant to the superintendent. Painters are expected to complete the repair work early this fall.

Lee County Omitted in IERC's Allocations

Chicago, Aug. 31—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission has approved September relief allocations of $1,116,106 for governmental units downstate and $2,557,394 for Cook county.

Amounts approved for allocation to counties in dollars, included:

Bureau $2,655; DeKalb $3,417; Jo Daviess $1,880; LaSalle $28,822; Lee none; Ogle $799; Stephenson $3,580; Whiteside $260; Winnebago $40,991 and Cook $1,116,106.

CALLING ALL FISH DENTISTS
Sterling — (AP) — Stanley E. Worrell, Whiteside Boy Scout executive, back from a vacation in the heart of the Chequamegon National Forest in Wisconsin, reported that the big fish weren't striking. The natives, he said, reported that it was because the fish had sore mouths.

And, he added, there may be something to it, for a big muskie he examined had inflamed gums. All of its front teeth were gone and some of the back ones as well.

THERE'S THIEVES IN THOSE FIELDS—

Morrisville—Gus Reed's fox terrier had a busy day. He carried as many as 50 young rabbits which Reed's plow turned up while he was plowing for wheat planting, but about as fast as the dog could bury them along came a flock of thieving crows and stole them. Between catching rabbits, buying them and fighting off the crows, the dog worked himself into a state of exhaustion and Reed said, had to be carried home.

PRETTY CHEAP GOING

Champaign — (AP) — Walter Shearer, 40-year-old Mt. Carmel farmer, gets around at a minimum of cost. He's winding up a 3,500 mile bicycle trip through the northern part of the country and New England and estimated his costs at $13.35, of which $1.65 was for a new tire.

New York Theater Goers See Drama Not on Schedule

New York, Aug. 31—(AP) — An unscheduled drama unfolded before last-minute theatre goers in the Times Square sector last night as a policeman and a gunman fought a death duel in the lobby of a playhouse.

The gunman, his identity a mystery, ended his own life with a bullet through the temple as he fell wounded from the officer's fire. Patrolman Joseph Schaecker and James Mitchell, negro porter at the Plymouth theatre between Broadway and Eighth avenue on 45th street, were wounded during the battle.

Schaecker, wounded in the left leg, told the story that a stranger approached him on his beat and whispered:

"That man (pointing) has a gun. He's going to shoot me."

The informant melted into the crowd and Schaecker started in pursuit of a slight, mustached man who held a pistol. Both broke into a run. As they neared the Plymouth, dodging among parked autos, the gunman fired a shot that went wild, then dodged into the lobby.

Mitchell attempted to tackle the man, but lost his grip. The fugitive fired again and wounded the porter in the jaw. As he fled the lobby he sent a bullet into Schaecker's leg. The policeman hobbled to the shelter of a car and fired, striking the man in the chest.

The gunman then put his pistol to his own head.

Nothing was found in the man's pocket to identify him and the person who had accused him of threatening to shoot could not be located.

OBJECT OF SUIT

The suit filed in the Lee county Circuit court by the City of Dixon which names Frank C. Sproul as defendant is an action for ejectment and the figure named in the proceeding is one dollar. A city official today stated that generally the action was misunderstood by many citizens, and the suit was instituted to force the defendant from occupying city property and not alone for the collection of one dollar.

Eight Soldiers Parachute Safely from Plane in "Unheard of" Feat

McChord Field, Wash., Aug. 31—(AP)—Eight men—the entire crew—parachuted to safety from a falling bomber, a feat described by an Army officer as "unheard of."

The big Douglas B-18A bomber crashed in rugged wooded country north of the little western Washington town of Kalama yesterday after one of its two motors went dead.

"It's unheard of for so many men to successfully escape by parachute in such circumstances," Col. Carlyle H. Wain, McChord field commander, said. The men suffered no injuries except minor bruises.

First Lieut. Jack N. Donohew, pilot, stuck to the plane until his comrades left.

"After losing altitude, I ordered the men to jump," he related. "They started jumping at 4,000 feet. I trimmed the plane so it

MARITIME UNION CHIEF ASSAILS CONSCRIPTION

Believes Bill Directed Solely Against The Wage-Earners

Chicago, Aug. 31—(AP)—Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, asserted today that peacetime conscription "is directed solely against the wage-earners" and part of an effort to "destroy the social and economic gains of the past few years."

Curran, who also is president of the CIO industrial council of greater New York, was one of the scheduled speakers at the "emergency peace mobilization" sponsored by "The Committee to Defend America by Keeping Out of War."

In his prepared manuscript Curran said that organized labor was not opposed to national defense but contends that until voluntary enlistment has been given a "free trial" peacetime conscription "smacks of Fascism."

Charges Creation of Fear

The labor leader charged that "the great industrialists and bankers" were seeking through the dissemination of war propaganda to create fear and hysteria with a view to attacking "our work and living standards, and wiping out the trade unions as a factor in our economy."

"What they want," Curran said, "is to tangle out of the American people ten billion dollars worth of government contracts, to destroy democracy and the labor movement, and to build a colonial empire in Latin America."

Cries of "Communism" were hurled at the mobilization by the National Labor committee of the Socialist party, which said it was "Communist inspired and controlled from end to end."

Amid this worry future U. S. Senators Gerald P. Nye (R-ND) and D. Worth Clark (D-Idaho), who had been scheduled to speak at a public mass meeting tonight cancelled their engagements.

URGES SUPPORT OF PROGRAM

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 31—(AP)—National American Legion Commander Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit says the "entire nation must" support the national defense program.

"We must eliminate from the American scene all subversive elements that bow at the shrine of those ideologies which spring from foreign shores," he declared yesterday at the convention of the New York Legionnaires, "Communism, Fascism, Nazism and any other foreign 'ism' which teaches that some other system is better than the American way have no place on American scene."

"We have seen what this kind of disloyalty has done to other countries. It must not be permitted to happen here. The Legion wants peace, but not peace at any price."

He said the preparedness burden "must not fall solely on the backs of the men who enter the armed forces—it must fall on all citizens equally."

Sunday and Labor Day Will Be Big Days at Annual Ogle Co. Fair

The annual Ogle county fair opened at Oregon this afternoon with the largest exhibits in all departments in many years and with a fine crowd in attendance at noon and more people pouring through the gates at that time. Buildings on the fair grounds have all been newly painted and present a fine appearance. Two races were on this afternoon's program, and tomorrow will be a big day with two harness events and a horse show in the afternoon and a horse show in the evening, also. Three races are on Monday afternoon's program, and the management anticipates record crowds tomorrow and Labor Day.

Fair, Cool Labor Day Week End Predicted

Chicago, Aug. 31—(AP)—A fair and cool Labor Day week-end was forecast today for most of the middle west.

The U. S. weather bureau said light snows might fall in the Ohio river valley, but that throughout the Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi valley the skies generally would be clear, with daytime temperatures suitable for outdoor recreation.

Hurricane Menaces N. Carolinian Seaboard

Wilmington, N. C., Aug. 31—(AP)—A tropical hurricane menaced North Carolina's eastern seaboard today while the mountainous western reaches of the state still counted heavy damage from flooded streams.

The weather bureau ordered storm warnings up from just north of Wilmington to the Virginia Capes and warned that the center of a "severe storm of full hurricane intensity" would be near Cape Hatteras early tonight.

Holiday Appeal

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 31—(AP)—Recalling that 32 persons were killed and 420 injured in Labor Day automobile accidents in Illinois a year ago, Chief Walter Williams of the state highway police today appealed for driving precautions to curb fatalities during this holiday week-end.

Reminding motorists that checking of headlights, tires and mechanical equipment of their cars is one way of safeguarding themselves and others Williams urged drivers also to "avoid extremes" and added:

"The driver who uses good judgment in limiting his travels to a reasonable distance, who does not drive too fast or too slow for conditions and who remembers that others have privileges too will live to see another holiday. The other type of driver is quite likely to join the thousands who annually pay the price of holiday recklessness."

LONDON ROCKED BY THREE NAZI RAIDS IN A DAY

Germans Apparently Un- curbed by Mounting Loss of Warplanes

BULLETIN
London, Aug. 31—(AP)—The fourth air-raid warning of the day for this British capital was sounded at 5:50 p. m. (10:50 a. m., C. S. T.).

BULLETIN
London, Aug. 31—(AP)—The air ministry announced tonight that 38 German planes had been destroyed so far today during attacks on Britain.

The announcement, issued at 5:30 p. m. (10:10 a. m. C. S. T.), said "reports received so far today show that 38 enemy aircraft have been shot down in attacks on this country today. Sixteen of our fighters are missing, but 11 of the pilots are safe."

London, Aug. 31—(AP)—Germany's air raiders, hammering at this island kingdom with fresh fury, thrust at London this afternoon in the third raid within five hours, apparently uncurbed by a mounting toll of lost bombers and fighting planes.

About the time the third alarm sent Londoners hastily to cover, the air ministry announced that "at least six enemy planes were shot down today and one enemy bomber last night."

The ministry acknowledged that three of Britain's fast-rising fighting planes were missing after the morning combat.

The third alarm of the day came at 1:03 (6:03 a. m., C. S. T.) and it was London's 21st alarm since August 15, when the Luftwaffe (literally, German air arm) struck first in the London area with a dive-bomber attack on the Croydon airport.

The all-clear signal sounded 55 minutes later.

Ace German pilots of the "yellow nose" squadron of Messerschmitt fighters were reported routed in a great battle over a southeast coast town after what the British called "suicide" attacks on balloons.

An unofficial count of the day's German losses, which usually runs ahead of ministry communiques, said that by early afternoon the Germans had lost 14 bombers and fighters.

The 14th plane, by this count, fell in flames on farmland in southeast England, just missing rooftops.

Some of the raiders droning in across the channel penetrated the London defense area in the third raid. The British said the two morning thrusts were beaten back.

Explosions Heard

Several bomb explosions were heard in the London zone but after a brief sky battle, beyond the eyesight of watchers in the capital, the raiders apparently were driven off.

One plane dived out of the sun on a town in the London area. The streets were crowded with shoppers. There were a half-dozen explosions. Women and children ran for shelter and the fire brigade and A. R. P. (Air-raid precautions) services rushed into action.

Sirens sounded seven minutes after the last bomb dropped. Buildings in the center of the suburban town were shaken and clouds of dust billowed into the sky.

PIG WELL "CORNERED"

Boone, Ia., Aug. 31—(AP)—One pig didn't go to market because it was buried in a corn crib near Boxholm for nearly a year.

The animal, weighing only 50 pounds, was found alive in the crib by a boy hunting pigeons. Its only moisture came from rain or snow leaking into the crib.

The pig was covered when the corn crib was filled and sealed.

Bids Received on Street Projects North of River

Four contractors submitted bids on the proposed improvement under the city's motor fuel tax fund for 1940, on North Galena avenue from Boyd street, north to the city limits and on parts of Everett street and Lincoln Way. The bids were filed in the office of City Clerk Wayne C. Smith, to remain open to public inspection until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock when the board of local improvements will meet in special session to consider the awarding of the contract. The improvement is expected to be completed this fall.

The Geneva Construction Co. of Aurora submitted bids on several types of black top surfacing material totalling about $27,000 on each type. The bid of the Weatherly Construction Co. of Ottawa amounted to $24,062.27; the C. F. Settle Construction Co. of Moline, $24,680.24 and the Gallagher Co. of Thornton, Ill., $20,341.18. The latter firm applied the black surface treatment to several blocks in the business section last year.

Sewer Unopposed

At the meeting of the board of local improvements no objections were recorded against the proposed extension of the sanitary sewer system in the Hines addition in the southeast section of the city which was amended last week. At the public hearing it was stated that the improvement is estimated to cost $12,218.00 and the extension will provide a total of 59 connections in that section of the city. Attorney Ruth Leydig Merrick is commissioner on the improvement.

At the council meeting the bid for furnishing the city building with 70 tons of stoker coal was awarded to the Home Lumber Co., which last week submitted the lowest of three bids filed. The regular monthly pay roll amounting to $4,188.15 was paid.

Young Republican Club Executive Committee Named Friday Evening

Lyle O. Snader, chairman of the Lee County Young Republican organization, named his co-workers in a meeting of the group held in the Circuit court room here last night.

C. K. Willet of Dixon was named to head the executive committee with Mrs. Earl Carlson of Lee Center, James E. Bales of Dixon, Robert Dean of Ashton and J. O. Shaulis, Jr. of Dixon as members of the committee.

Mrs. Ruth Ledig Merrick of Dixon will lead the women's division and Harry Herbst of Dixon will serve as chairman of the organization.

According to Mr. Snader, precinct captains will be appointed later at a meeting to be held late in September when the organization will get into full swing.

Aviation Pioneer Says U. S. Should Get Fliers Where It Can Find Them

Oakland, Calif., Aug. 31—(AP)—James P. Montgomery, who has watched aviation grow ever since he helped his brother in 1884 make what possibly was the first winged flight in this country, believes the United States should take its pilots where it can find them, and not expect all the good ones to come out of colleges.

"The important thing," he said, "is to find young men with the flying sense, or balance."

"Glider pilots probably are the best of all. A boy who has learned to fly a glider doesn't need much more teaching when you give him a plane with a motor."

Montgomery, 75, Oakland lawyer and son of a one-time Assistant United States Attorney General, offered this advice in relating some of the discoveries and almost forgotten exploits of his brother, the late John J. Montgomery, physics professor at the University of Santa Clara.

"John used to say a man was a flier, or he wasn't," James Montgomery said.

"That's important to think about, if the government is going to man 50,000 planes."

"I judge, from reading the papers, that there is a tendency to favor collegians for flying, and I don't like it."

"They're no better than anyone else—probably don't average as good, because if they were good students, they may have hurt their eyes doing too much studying."

"As for the value of glider training—remember that Germany was known as the world's glider-flying center, and Germany has the world's greatest flying force."

Bombs Fall Into Central Berlin: First in History

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The point of immediate importance arising from the Axis-imposed "settlement" of the Rumanian-Hungarian territorial quarrel is that Herr Hitler probably (though not certainly) has averted for the moment a Balkan upheaval which would have been a calamity for his blitzkrieg against England—already running far behind schedule.

True, the Balkan pot was boiling angrily this morning. Not only were tempers running high in Rumania and Hungary (especially the former, who lost great treasure to her neighbor), but Greece was cleaning guns because of fears of Italian aggression.

The Russian bear was stalking the western boundaries of his preserves, which is a manner of describing mysterious war maneuvers. He was moving circumspectly, after his fashion, but with rumblings in his throat which might denote either dissatisfaction or pleasant anticipation.

Still, despite the tension, the mailed fist of the Axis powers ought to be able to keep the lid hammered down for the time being. If and when their pressure is lessened, watch out.

There are several other features of this German-Italian move which are well worth consideration:

(1) The arbitrary decision of Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini, whereby something like half of the fine province of Transylvania is ripped off from Rumania and returned to Hungary which lost it in the World War, is good only so long as Hitler is head man in Europe. It's length of life depends on whether he wins the battle of Britain.

(2) The manner in which Hitler handled this situation is an excellent illustration of the rule which observers generally expect him to impose on his "new Europe" if he does win the war. He took two neutral and sovereign countries, knocked their heads together and said in effect: "Do this fast, and no nonsense."

(3) Maintenance of "peace" in the Balkans is, as indicated, vital to the axis assault on Britain. But this "peace" cannot give to Hitler the supplies which he so sorely needs from this productive region. The crops of the Danubian basin, one of the world's great granaries, are said by experts to be the poorest in 10 years. Further, agricultural production has fallen off heavily because all the Balkan states are standing at arms.

The peace which the Nazi chieftain has conjured out of his fist can't alter those facts, though obviously it does ameliorate the situation.

(4) King Carol's chances of getting back the territories which he has lost to Russia, Bulgaria and now to Hungary, would seem to rest wholly within himself. The only balm there is in Gilead for him is the maxim that God helps them who help themselves.

He had the backing and friendship of Britain, but lost that. It looks as though the only way he ever will get back his domains is with his two hands, if the time ever arrives when he can use them.

(5) The time hasn't yet arrived for the showdown between Hitler and Stalin which many observers confidently expect. They still speak together, but with guns strapped on their hips.

Russia's ambition has been to have control of the lower Danube in Rumania, the Black Sea coast and the Dardanelles, thus blocking Germany's similar desire. The operations of each of them in Rumania have been in line with this.

AIR WAR
British raiders blast at Berlin, bombs falling in center of German capital for first time; R. A. F. battles massed nazi warplanes.

BALKANS
Rumania, plunged in mourning over axis-dictated cession of Transylvania to Hungary, hears notes of internal discontent; King Carol's council confers on "new problems of exceptional importance." Greece calls up all reserve officers, expecting renewal of Italian anti-Greek campaign through Albanian parliament.

(By The Associated Press)
Germany replied to a direct attack of the R. A. F. on the heart of Berlin today by sending over waves of warplanes in thrusts at London which sent residents of the British capital scurrying into air-raid shelters three times in five hours.

Only one of three thrusts penetrated the city's defenses, the British reported.

The air ministry said at least six nazi planes were shot down in the raids and three of its own were missing. The third alarm was London's 21st since nazi planes struck at Croydon airport on the outskirts of the city August 15.

The bombs, dropped in the center of Berlin were the first in its history, and fell as nazi bombers roared and fought over London a night raid that lasted six hours and 39 minutes, keeping citizens awake until nearly dawn.

Discontent in Balkans
There were rumblings of discontent in Rumania, plunged into national mourning over the loss of more than half of Transylvania to Hungary by axis dictate.

Widespread sections of Berlin felt the impact of British bombs. Several apartment and business buildings were wrecked, a big electrical factory was damaged and many fires were set.

One bomb fell in the courtyard of fire department headquarters on Linden street, four blocks east of the Wilhelmstrasse on which important government buildings are situated.

The raid kept Berlin's 4,000,000 in shelters for an hour and 37 minutes.

A British communique said nazi air attacks during the night were "dispersed" over many parts of England and that there was no "heavy damage" despite the numbers of German craft involved.

German accounts said 98 British and 34 nazi planes were lost in fierce combats over the English channel and southern England on Friday. The British put the losses at 62 Germans and 25 British.

In Rumania, King Carol's crown council conferred late into the night on "new problems of exceptional importance" amid unofficial expressions of concern over possible disturbances in newly-ceded Transylvania.

Form Defense Corps

Unreconciled Rumanians formed "defense corps" in parts of Transylvania and dispatched petitions of protest termed "traitors" those who agreed to the German-Italian "arbitration" award to Hungary.

The implications carried a new threat to the Balkan peace which the axis powers supposedly had assured at the Vienna conference which ordered the territorial transfer in return for a guarantee of Rumania's shrunken borders.

Another unsettled Balkan trouble center was Greece, which called up virtually all her reserve officers last night.

Informed Athenian quarters said the parliament of Italian-conquered Albania opening today might be used by Italy as a sounding board for further vocal attacks on pro-British Greece.

PLANS NEW TEA ROOM

Miss Z. Beck of Grand Detour has purchased the old stone and frame building in Grand Detour, located on the shore of the Rock river on the Blackhawk Trail and known as the old cheese factory. She plans to have the structure remodeled, using the upper story for an apartment for herself and making a modern tea room of the first floor, with a veranda and terraces to accommodate those who wish to be served outdoors. The Becks have long been known for their excellent meals and have enjoyed a substantial patronage.

HOW TO BUY BUILD FINANCE MODERNIZE FURNISH IMPROVE YOUR HOME

Good investments are exceedingly rare these days... a good home to be occupied by your own family is about the only "sure thing" left.

Money invested in a home has purchased security and satisfaction beyond the reach of the next depression.

Housing is a necessity in both good and bad times. No general economic distress, which may greatly impair the value of most other forms of wealth, can detract from the year-in and year-out service of your home... its value to you is as constant as your need for shelter.

The resale value of a good residence on the open market at any particular time is subject to less violent fluctuation than investments which depend upon the state of business profits for their value. A home is definitely not a speculative investment.

The record of the last period of serious financial distress is a clear one. In countless American families the only tangible savings which remained after the bank holidays of 1933 were those invested in the home.

HOME BUILDING CALENDAR

This is a daily work calendar showing the approximate number of days devoted to the various operations in the construction of the average six-room dwelling. It will give you a fair idea of how long it will take to complete your new home... assuming the weather is good.

Three days for layout and excavation; five days, footings and foundation; nine days, framing to ridge pole; six days, sheathing and cornice; three days, roofing and flashing; four days, siding and window frames; fifteen days, plaster and drying period; three days, laying finish floor; fifteen days, interior trim; five days, interior paint; two days, sand and finish floor; five days, grade yard. Total of 75 days.

Plumbing, heating and electrical wiring are planned to carry on simultaneously with structural work.

BUILDING INDUSTRY ORGANIZES FOR QUALITY LOW COST HOMES

DESIGN 401

Four Rooms—Bath, Porch and Basement, 11,720 cubic feet. Why pay rent when the same money expended will enable one to secure such a pleasant home as pictured above. For further details and description write Illinois Homes Foundation, 919 Ridgely Building, Springfield, Illinois, or this newspaper.

Creating a cross-country show window to publicize the type of lower cost housing available through the private home building industry, thirty-two manufacturers of building materials have organized for 1940 a unique consolidation of promotion efforts in the form of a "National Small Homes Demonstration Program," with sixteen area branches in the form of State Homes Foundations.

The new program tends to provide good habitation for moderate and low income families. During the past twenty-five years the principle of making things easy to purchase has been applied to practically every commodity with the notable exception of a new home. Complex methods of home purchasing coupled with intensive competition for the buyer's dollar resulted in increased turnover of goods sold on the "easy-payment-plan," and less home buying.

The National Small Homes Demonstration will put every effort into furnishing the public quality, well built small homes for the money. The program will have the co-operation of leading building equipment and home furnishing industries. Leaders in the electrical, plumbing, heating, gas and electric, building, paint and furnishing fields, are aiding in this enterprise to demonstrate to the average income American family what they can own for a low price, the materials that can go into such a dwelling, and the facilities for easy financing. Any inquiries in Illinois can be addressed to this newspaper, or to the Illinois Homes Foundation, 919 Ridgely Building, Springfield, Illinois. You will receive, without obligation, a manual dealing with picture-taking and discussion of low-cost small homes, entitled, "How to Own a Home at Less Than One-Dollar-Per-Day."

When acquiring a new dwelling, or place to live, the average family wants to know: "What does it cost per month? Per Week? Per Day?" This question applies on a new place to be rented or a home to be purchased in the form of payments. Comparison of two months' costs—one for rent and one for house installments—without understanding their meaning may be misleading. The house which can be built or bought on $30 monthly payments will cost much less in the long run than the house rented for $30 per month. No part of the $30 spent for rent can be recovered. A substantial portion of the $30 spent for purchase payments, on the other hand, is being stored away in the form of an accumulating equity. It is not only "housing cost" but "savings," while more rent represents only "housing cost."

SHALL WE RENT IT--OR BUILD IT?

What Do We Get For Our Money Both Ways?

When acquiring a new dwelling, or place to live, the average family wants to know: "What does it cost per month? Per Week? Per Day?" This question applies on a new place to be rented or a home to be purchased in the form of payments.

Another question we ask ourselves is which type of housing expenditure will give us per dollar the most room and the best accommodations for our particular family. Assuming that we have been able to pay down $500 on a new home, our $30 per month installments will permit us to carry and pay for a house which costs around $4,000, and the total value of our home with house and lot will be about $4,250. This will provide a new and modern house of six rooms, arranged and decorated in accordance with our own tastes.

This Is A Good Time To Build

WHAT will the European war do to building?

With the tremendous forces of destruction now unleashed over there and the impact of events on the stock market and the nerves of the people over here it is only natural that many people, in and out of the building industry, should ask themselves, "Is this a good time to build?"

In my opinion this is the best of all times to build. It is the best of all times to put earnings and savings into a permanent, tangible, concrete investment whose intrinsic value to the investor will not be affected by any storms of war.

A home is such an investment. Stocks depreciate, bonds are defaulted, money itself may become valueless, but so long as a home stands it is shelter, it is security, it is stability for a man and his family.

What else can we buy as a hedge against uncertainty? Where else can we put our money and be safe?

It seems to me the building industry has what amounts to a duty and an obligation to tell this story to the public. In a world suddenly become insecure the building industry alone can offer security.

Suppose inflation should come, as it does so often in the wake of a great war? Your dollars will be worth less, you will pay more for food and for clothing and for rent, but, if you have bought a home your dollar payments will not change. You've bought security.

Suppose this country goes to war after all; what about the soldier who is paying on a home? This is a possibility, of course. But, is it too radical to suggest that it might be most unpopular for FHA to permit foreclosure on the very home which that soldier is fighting to protect?

In the trying times ahead, the more families that own their homes, the better off our country will be. We must never forget that our freedom was created by forefathers who lived in homes that they owned, homes that they built in many cases with their own hands.

Scan the history of this country, look about you now. Can there be any doubt that those who have stood, and are standing, their ground against forces that are dangerous to our freedom are those who have planted their roots somewhere, where have a place they call home?

Yes, more than ever the building industry can conscientiously and patriotically sell its product to the public.

and inclinations. On the other hand, assuming we have kept our $500 in the bank and pay $30 a month for rent, we usually will find it difficult to lease for $30 a month a house which has the value, attractiveness and the accommodations of the new home we would pay for in monthly installments.

Of course, there are taxes and insurance to be paid on the new home. But the proportion of the $30 installment which is saved toward eventual ownership of the property will exceed the annual tax and insurance cost. Our $500 which we have taken out of the bank will be earning more money in our home than in a savings account.

Summarizing, we may state the rent vs. installment situation somewhat like this: If we pay an equal amount for rent and for purchase installments we will be living in a less satisfactory house if we rent. If we build we will pay about the same amount per month, but we will have a better home and a portion of our installments will be accumulating in the form of equity, and after a period of years we will own the home outright.

One of the problems of the modern business world is the safe investment of money. Housing is required by every family. It will ordinarily be found wise to use as much of our own money for our own shelter as possible.

PREVENTING CRACKS IN NEW FLOORS

The virtues of a well-laid and serviceable wood floor need no explanation to the modern American home owner. A good wood floor is its own best argument. It is easy to keep clean, and its appearance is an important part of the decorative scheme of the house interior. On the other hand, a floor that develops cracks and irregularities after laying is unsightly; it catches dust and dirt, creaks under foot, and is a lasting source of exasperation and disappointment.

The cure for cracks in a floor lies wholly in preventing them. Here are a few pointers along this line: (1) See that the flooring is dry when put down, and that conditions in the house are such that the floor does not take up moisture after it is laid; (2) Assume yourself that the dealer has properly protected the stock while it has been in his hands; (3) Do not allow it to be delivered on a damp or rainy day; (4) Make sure that the plaster or masonry walls are dry before the flooring is delivered, or better yet, "build dry" and panel your walls with wood; (5) Eliminate all badly crooked boards or use them in inconspicuous places, and (6) Maintain heat in the house from the time the flooring is delivered until finished by the painter. Very little heat is required in warm, dry weather, but spells of damp or cool weather are likely to occur in any month of the year.

An additional reason for keeping down moisture in the house nearing completion is the fact that better and smoother floors result with mechanical sanders when the floor and the atmosphere are dry.

The only reason a wood floor cracks is because the moisture contained in it has not been properly removed when it is laid down, or that it has been allowed to pick up excessive moisture after being installed.

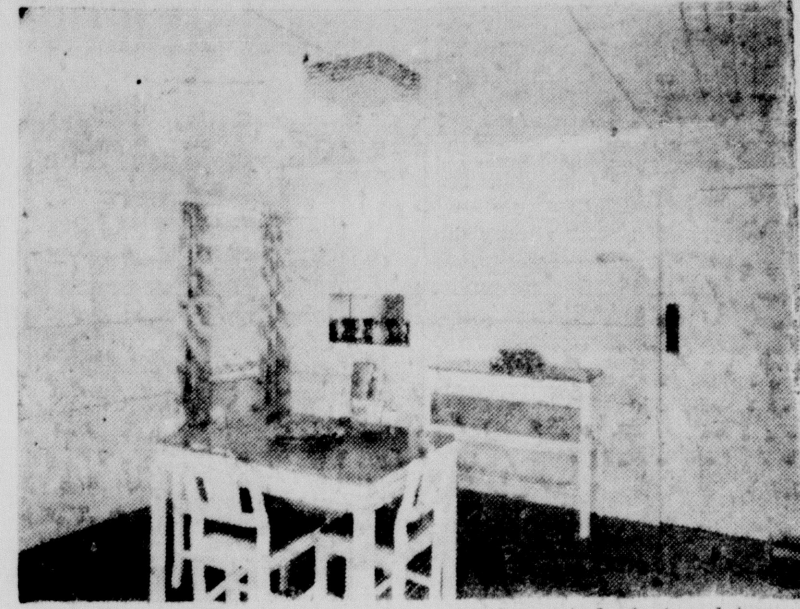

One characteristic of wood is that it shrinks when moisture evaporates and swells when moisture is absorbed. Seeing that the moisture content of the flooring is maintained approximately equal to that in a heated house, should prevent the floor from developing cracks.

HISTORIC OLD TUBAC
The Spaniards garrisoned what is now Old Tubac, Santa Cruz county, Ariz., in 1752. Old Tubac became Arizona's first Mormon settlement in 1852, the state's most important settlement in 1858, and virtually was abandoned in 1861 due to Indian depredations.

GLOVE CENTER
Fulton county, New York, is the glove manufacturing center of the United States. The industry was founded there in 1760 by Sir William Johnson, who brought a group of Scottish glove makers from Perth to the county.

NEW IDEA FOR DINETTE

Definitely modern, this dinette room shows today's trend toward practical use of new products. The walls are of cane fibre insulation board, and are applied horizontally. The ceiling is laid in a feature pattern to give it distinction. The dinette table pictured here enlarges to seat eight persons and is in white with a maple finish top. The chairs are white and are upholstered in russet leather. Note the unusual light fixture.

A PLACE FOR EVERYTHING

Pots and pans... and a perfect place to keep them. There is plenty of room in this cabinet unit, and a hand-sliding rack brings out every pan within reach... easy to put away... easy to get out again. It's a new convenience feature every woman planning a new kitchen will appreciate.

Oregon Girl Is Bride of Jim O'Malley Today

Only immediate families of the bridal pair and a few close friends from Dixon and Oregon were present to witness a simple nuptial ceremony solemnized at 8 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Catholic church in Oregon, in which Miss Louise Westendorf, fourth daughter of Mrs. Harvey Carr of Oregon, became the bride of Jim O'Malley, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed O'Malley of 116 East Eighth street, Dixon. The Rev. Father A. M. Kreckel read the vows at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Cliff Deal came from Freeport to attend her sister as matron of honor. Thomas Coffey of this city was Mr. O'Malley's best man.

The bride chose a blue gray crepe dress for her wedding attire. Her sister was wearing a black and white ensemble.

A wedding breakfast at Beck's in Grand Detour followed the ceremony. Attending from Dixon were the bridegroom's parents, the Ed O'Malleys, Florence and Thomas O'Malley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schwitters, and Mr. Coffey.

Tomorrow, Mr. O'Malley and his bride will be honored at a family dinner at the Deal home on Stern street, Freeport. Later, the newlyweds expect to leave on a motor trip to Milwaukee to visit the bridegroom's cousin, Miss Frances Lehan, during the Labor Day holiday.

After Monday, the couple will be at home in their newly-furnished apartment at the corner of Madison and Eighth street, Oregon.

Mrs. O'Malley is a graduate of Oregon high school with the class of '37, and is employed in the traffic department of the Ogden-Kalbf telephone company. The bridegroom has been employed in the press room of The Dixon Evening Telegraph for the past seven years.

TO ATTEND FREEPORT BRIDE

Mrs. Robert Dean of Ashton, a Northwestern university classmate of the bride will be bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Barbara Younglove Wagner, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy DeLain Wagner of "Four Winds," Cedarville, and Albert Bailey, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bailey of West Lincoln boulevard, Freeport. The service will be read at 5 o'clock by the Rev. Frederick Butler of Madison, Wis., at Grace Episcopal church in Freeport.

ROCKFORD GUESTS
Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Sackett are spending the weekend at the F. K. Tribou home. Mrs. Sackett is Mr. Tribou's sister.

LUNCHEON PARTY
Mrs. S. W. Lehman, Mrs. Arlene S. Hyde, Mrs. George Van Inwegen, Mrs. Frank Rosbrook and Mrs. Sam Watson motored to Rockford for luncheon today.

Black Velvet

She sits down because her date "stood her up." But the boy friend certainly didn't skip the date because he disappointed her in clothes. The "date" dress she wears is a glowing tribute to any college girl's taste. It's of black velvet with collar and cuffs of snowy Irish lace and lacings in the back.

ASHTON GIRL BECOMES BRIDE OF CHANA MAN

Miss Irene Friday, daughter of the Henry Fridays of Ashton, and Lewis Champlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Champlain of Chana, were married Tuesday afternoon at the home of the Rev. W. S. Easton, pastor of the Lighthouse Methodist church. The vows were solemnized in a double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock.

Miss Irma Friday of Rochelle was maid of honor for her twin sister, and Burnell Vogel was best man for Mr. Champlain.

Mr. and Mrs. Champlain are residing in Stillman Valley. The bride formerly attended Rochelle high school, and has been employed by the Caron Spinning Mills in Rochelle. Mr. Champlain, who formerly attended Ashton high school, is employed by the Tetter Cement company in Rockford.

TO AMHERST
Mrs. W. C. Durkes and her son, Dick, expect to leave next week for Amherst, Mass., where Dick will begin his senior year at Amherst. Mrs. Durkes plans to remain in the east through September.

Chester Pell to Claim Bride in Rockford Tonight

Palms, ferns and gladioli will decorate the candlelit altar of Bethany Methodist church in Rockford tonight, when Miss Ruth Carlson, daughter of the Simon J. Carlsons of 324 Shaw street, Rockford, becomes the bride of Chester Pell of Dixon, son of Rev. Derwyn Scott of Genoa. The Rev. Gustav Erickson will pronounce the vows at 8 o'clock.

A reception for 135 guests will follow the service at the Faust hotel's Levin Faust room. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hafstedt will act as host and hostess.

For her wedding, Miss Carlson has chosen a white satin gown with a high neckline, long fitted sleeves, and a train with lace inserts. A tulle cap trimmed with white roses will hold her fingertip veil, and she will carry a sheaf of white roses.

Mrs. Roland E. Carlson will be her sister-in-law's only attendant. She will be wearing pink taffeta, and will carry a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers. Wilbur Pell will serve his brother as best man.

When the couple leave later on a brief wedding trip, the bride will be wearing a black frock with gold accents and black accessories. After their return, they will be at home here at 323 Depot avenue.

Miss Carlson, a graduate of Rockford high school, has been employed as bookkeeper at her father's office in Rockford. Mr. Pell was graduated from Belvidere high school, and is with the International Harvester company here.

Sea Scouts Leave for Moline Regatta

Seven Sea Scouts of Dixon ship No. 567 left this morning for Moline to attend the third annual Sea Scouting sailing regatta of the seventh region, featuring three days of sailing races, a swimming meet, and Scout activities. In the group were Skipper John White, Earl Charvat, James Palmer, Donald Carry, Edward Frye, Gail Gardner, Elwin Bunnell, Leonard Shoaf, Jr., Ed Rinehart, and Earl Slagle, Jr.

More than 200 Scouts from 17 councils are expected to participate in the water classic. The visiting Scouts and their leaders will be quartered at Camp Mansur, Moline area Boy Scout camp, and the sailing events will be held at Sea Scout base at Forty-Eighth street, Moline. A Sea Scout ball will be held this evening at Camp Mansur.

There will be seven regatta events, including the standard Sea Scout yacht race, standard yacht race with a standing start, landing competition, officers' sailing race, miscellaneous special sailing events for one-man boats only, boat owners' race and free-for-all race.

Following registration today, today, the remainder of the day will be occupied by sailing, canoeing, instruction, retreat ceremony and the ball. Sunday morning religious services will be held. Races will start tomorrow afternoon and will be concluded on Monday. A swimming meet is scheduled for Sunday evening at the camp pool.

Helen Wallace and Raymond Moody to Have Garden Bridal

An arch of ferns and flowers in the garden at the E. J. Wallace home at Mt. Morris is to be the setting for a late-August wedding this afternoon, when the Wallaces' daughter, Helen, exchanges nuptial vows with Raymond Moody of Mt. Morris. Dr. C. H. High-tower, pastor of the Mt. Morris Trinity Lutheran church, will read the ceremony at 3:30 o'clock in the presence of 60 guests.

The couple's only attendants will be Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hollinger.

The bride will be wearing a floor-length gown of white net over satin, with a fingertip veil, and she will carry a white prayer book with white satin markers, knotted with forget-me-nots. Mrs. Hollinger has chosen a matching picture hat for her green net gown, and will carry an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Wallace will wear an afternoon dress of light blue sheer for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Harvey Moody, mother of the bridegroom, will be attired in a rose-colored dress. Johanna Hill roses will form their corsage bouquets.

The guests will remain in the garden for a reception. Garden flowers and tapers will decorate the long tea tables.

When Mr. Moody and his bride leave for a wedding trip through northern Wisconsin, she will be wearing a navy blue dressmaker suit with a white blouse and red accessories. After Sept. 10, they will be at home at 213 West Front street, Mt. Morris.

Both Miss Wallace and Mr. Moody were graduated from Mt. Morris high school. Until her recent resignation to prepare for her wedding, Miss Wallace was employed at Kable's in Mt. Morris, where her husband is an employee.

This afternoon's bride has been complimented at several pre-nuptial parties. Miss Norma Palmer was entertaining a large company of guests at the White Pine State park last Friday evening, honoring Miss Wallace.

Out of town guests expected for the wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gieser and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Linnehan of Janesville, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Hare, Vernon Hare, Mrs. Hubert Hare, Walter Hare, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brace of Rockford, Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Clayton and Mrs. William Hopper of Muskegon, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Moody of Freeport, Nebr., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kneoll of Hooper, Nebr., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell of Des Moines, Iowa.

MICHIGAN GUESTS

Mrs. Mahlon Hartzell and daughters Betty and Janet, who have been spending the past two weeks here as guests of Mrs. Hartzell's parents, the George W. Schrock of North Galena avenue, expect to leave Wednesday for their home in Bay City, Mich. The Hartzells resided in Dixon until about three years ago.

WILL COMPLIMENT AFFIANCED PAIR

Miss Louise Warner will be entertaining at a picnic supper this evening at the Henry C. Warner cottage, complimenting Miss Catheryn Buchner and her fiancé, Allen Boyd.

NORTH DAKOTA GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kennedy and their young daughter, Julie Ann, of Minot, N. D., have been visiting here with Mr. Kennedy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kennedy. Mr. Kennedy is principal of the Junior high school division of the State Normal school at Minot.

DINNER GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Thomas were entertaining at dinner last evening, their guests numbering Mr. and Mrs. Randall Warfel, Miss Dorothy Stouffer, and Sam Shapiro.

SOUTH DIXON CLUB

Mrs. Jesse Lautzenheiser will be hostess to the South Dixon Community club on Wednesday afternoon. A white elephant sale is planned.

For That Late Vacation

All set for relaxation under summer skies is screen star Ann Rutherford, garbed in a chic, but essentially comfortable, late summer play costume. It includes pale blue denim slacks, a printed cotton shirt and a denim jacket, faced with print to match the shirt.

HONORS AVIATRIX

A picture of Miss Cecile Hamilton, daughter of A. M. Hamilton of Polo, appears in the Sept. 10 issue of "Look" magazine. Miss Hamilton, whom the magazine features with other "business-like" women, learned to fly in England in 1934, and is credited with 750 hours of airtime.

The aviatrix holds a commercial license, permitting her to fly passengers for hire, and was the youngest flier ever to win a commercial license in England. Part of her instruction was obtained at the Boeing School of Aeronautics.

Miss Hamilton, who is unmarried, is receptionist at the National Aeronautics association in Washington, D. C. She visited her father in Polo earlier in the summer.

WEDDING GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Coe will be among out of town guests attending the wedding of Miss Leona Audrey Goulding and John Joseph Hanson, which will be solemnized at 4 p. m. Monday at St. Mary's Catholic church in Sterling. They have also been invited to attend the reception, which will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Alfred Goulding.

CHICAGO GUEST

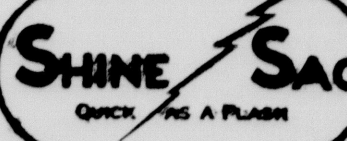

Miss Janet Bogher of Chicago arrived Wednesday to spend the Labor Day week end as the guest of the John Culleys of 703 East Third street. She is a cousin of Mr. Culley.

MISSOURI GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Lockett and son Jack of St. Louis, Mo. were due to arrive in Dixon today to spend the Labor Day weekend at the home of Mrs. A. J. Lockett on North Galena avenue.

Olive Hilliard Becomes Bride of Robert Cannon

Miss Olive Lorene Hilliard, younger daughter of the I. N. Hilliards of Ashton, and Robert E. Cannon of this city, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cannon of Kewanee, were married in a noon ceremony today at the Presbyterian manse in Ashton. Their nuptial vows were heard by the Rev. Louis F. Grafton.

Miss Minetta Hilliard of Ashton was her sister's only attendant. Willard Bryner of Kewanee served as best man.

The bride was attired in military blue crepe with navy accents, and her sister wore duobonnet crepe. Their corsage bouquets contained roses.

Attending the ceremony in addition to the immediate families were Miss Jean Pierce of Stockton and Miss Inez Krug of Ashton. Following the service, Mr. and Mrs. Cannon left for Chicago, where they will remain until Monday evening. They expect to be at home temporarily in Dixon.

Today's bride was graduated from Ashton high school in 1938, and has been employed as stenographer at J. L. Glassburn's garage for the past six months. Mr. Cannon is a graduate of Kewanee high school, and is employed at the Dixon Machine Works and Auto Parts company.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:
"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to well and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Bet Iowa Goes Republican

A cracking good football broadcast was spoiled Thursday night by a lot of static which arose from Des Moines, Iowa and the radio public missed a touchdown or so to find out that because Franklin Roosevelt once visited Europe as a boy he now is the only man in the United States who knows all about how to keep America out of war.

Henry A. Wallace, who is a candidate for vice-president on the Democratic ticket, and who didn't mention plowing under anything but Republicans, accepted the nomination. He did not say that Hitler was a candidate for the presidency but he put all the Republicans in the United States in the fifth column.

Mr. Wallace said that the replacement of Roosevelt would cause Hitler to rejoice. That should make it pretty near unanimous.

In a silly attempt to prove that the Republican party is not friendly to agriculture Mr. Wallace cited the selection of Republican house leader Joe Martin as G. O. P. campaign manager, claiming that Martin, in 15 years, had not voted for "a vital or constructive farm law." The Hon. Edward J. Flynn, boss of New York City's Tammany Hall, whom the Democrats selected as their campaign manager, was there. Mr. Wallace did not say whether Mr. Flynn had on his overalls.

From Mr. Wallace's speech of acceptance we gather that he is in favor of the human race, good health, food, etc., and that he is for freedom and Democracy and the Democratic Party and God. He apparently approves of the United States and frowns on our enemies and he thinks it would be nice if he could stay on the payroll. He probably also likes flowers.

Mr. Wallace let us in on a secret. He said that although most Republicans may not realize it, their party is a party of appeasement and that only Mr.

Roosevelt knows the dangers of such a policy and how to circumvent them.

It is very disconcerting to find out these awful things about ourselves. Especially from outsiders. It's like being brutally informed that you are only adopted, or were born out of wedlock or something. Fifth columnists and appeasers! Jeepers Creepers!

Press Continues Third Term Blasts EX-GOV. WHITE'S BOLT

The Cincinnati Enquirer, long-time Democratic journal, comments as follows on the bolt of Former Governor George White:

Former Governor George White of Ohio has been identified with the Democratic Party all his life, and with Franklin Roosevelt ever since he was national chairman of the party in 1920 while Mr. Roosevelt was campaigning for the vice presidency. His decision to vote for Wendell Willkie is therefore an event of some significance.

Although he has not submitted a bill of particulars, Mr. White appears to have reached his decision almost entirely on the principle of opposition to a third term. . . . His break with the party now reflects a thoughtful and public-spirited man's conviction that the Nation will be the better off if Presidents are limited to two terms.

Because he is close to the people of Ohio, because he is acting without ulterior motive, and because he is not a chronic bolter, George White is likely to carry a good many thinking Ohio Democrats with him in his decision to support Mr. Willkie.

Mr. Roosevelt has made the major blunder of his whole career. He has repudiated the action of the father of this country. . . . Franklin Roosevelt's mistake in judgment can be corrected by the American people on election day next November. Fortunately the country can turn at the polls to Wendell Willkie—an able man, a patriotic man, a man who saw service overseas in the last war, a man whose ideals are not less passionately American than those of the incumbent President.

Great Britain changed from Chamberlain to Churchill in the midst of battle.

America can change from Roosevelt to Willkie in time of peace.

—Alden (Minn.) Advance

The political party which in convention assembled, in Chicago, recently nominated the chief executive of this country for a third term is not the Democratic Party, as started a century and a quarter ago by Thomas Jefferson, nor is it the Democratic Party which, in 1932, nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt to be its standard bearer. . . . The New Dealers have run away with the old time Democratic Party, lock, stock, bottle and barrel, and it is possible that as a result of the "snelly" politics pulled at the recent so-called Democratic convention, the party founded by the third President of the United States is about to pass into oblivion.

—Gresham (Ore.) Outlook

In designating some one else a "money lover" Mr. Roosevelt left himself and family wide open for enemy broadsides. No President, in the memory of millions of voters at least, has made use of the White House position as has Mr. Roosevelt and members of his family. The facts are well known and speak for themselves.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Aug. 31.—The master Democratic political minds are not sure Roosevelt can proceed with the type of campaign he started. His strategy is to win without a contest. It worked well in the primary campaign. He was in sufficient control of the party organization to ease himself in coolly without a struggle.

So far his efforts to prevent a contest in the national race have not been satisfactory. He simply has no one in his entourage capable of carrying the campaign burden in such a way that he can continue the appearance of side-line aloofness. The strategy of the likes address was to build him up beyond criticism, but that failed. In the next move by the vice-presidential candidate, Wallace, it was made to appear Roosevelt is running against Hitler, but that seemed a little far-fetched also.

The president is very likely to be out on the stump battling for himself within a few weeks.

No one seems quite sure what the final form of the tax bill specifically means. This includes authors of the measure on the house ways and means committee. They were obviously not clear or in agreement as to how the complex measure would work out. One frankly said: "This is the most complicated bill enacted in congress in my twenty years of experience here."

If the authors cannot understand it, the ordinary members of the house and senate have no chance, but it will be pushed through anyway.

Already a quiet cloakroom campaign is being promoted on the excuse that congress will clarify it next January before anyone pays any taxes under it.

No one knows how the Democratic leader Jim Farley is going to vote in November. He has not said whether he will scratch the ticket. But all his friends now know his wife and brother intend to vote for Wendell Willkie, the Republican.

It is almost certain the former chairman of the Democratic national committee will not permit himself to be drawn into the third term drive. His withdrawal from the cabinet was effected to avoid embarrassing invitations.

The published letter from Tammany Congressman Kennedy is not the only one Garner has received urging him to return to his vice-presidential chair. Other more forceful inside pressure has been exerted by some of the Democratic politicians.

A hundred to one is being offered, with no takers, that the sage of Uvalde will continue to cast his lines for trout in home creeks.

His return would save political appearances, but serve no legislative purpose. Clearance of the congressional bill will open the way for congressional adjournment in a few weeks. Few important issues remain. No tie votes are in prospect in the senate (the vice president functions legislatively only in case of tie).

A dozen or more leading Republican congressmen slipped up to New York for a conference with Willkie, and back, unnoticed. They were amazed at the personal type of campaign the nominee is running. Apparently he makes all decisions. All unsolved problems of organization as well as policy are pushed up to him. As a result he has more work than he can do.

The congressional debate has made it appear that peacetime conscription for training is a new dictatorial idea, but the war department archives contain a record of just such a law passed May 8, 1792.

It was twice upheld by the United States Supreme Court after the war of 1812, but remained moribund because administration was under the governors of states.

Conceived by Von Steuben and approved by Washington, it called on every able-bodied male between 18 and 45 to enroll in the militia and "provide himself with a good musket or firelock, a sufficient bayonet and belt, two spare flints, and a knapsack, a pouch, with a box therein to contain not less than twenty-four cartridges", and other accouterment.

LOVE ON THE LINE

BY PAUL FRIGGENS

COPYRIGHT, 1940,
NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Ashton Oaks followed Carrie to her claim, tried to interest her in buying town lots. When she refused, he drives away, angrily, promising that neither she nor Deuel has heard the last of it. Late that night, Newt Gale sees a figure crouched in the darkness near the land office, recognizes Oaks.

CHAPTER VI

MARK went to bed but he couldn't sleep after leaving Carrie Lane. There in the shadows, she had stood close to him, called him Mark. "Mark, I am afraid, terribly afraid," she had said. And he had wanted to take her in his arms, protect her.

Now, he could imagine her near him again and saying, "Mark, Mark," over and over. He could imagine her was kissing her and telling her not to worry, that everything would work out all right, that he would see life would always be all right for Carrie Lane.

All through the next day, Mark pictured Carrie Lane, heard her calling his name, until it seemed he could not wait another hour to see her. Even Ma Parnley noticed his preoccupation at the supper table and promptly laid it to Carrie Lane, loudly—all of which didn't help Mark's embarrassment before the other homesteaders.

Saturday, Mark saw her, late in the afternoon as he was passing the hotel. His nerves tingled. She had come to town to stay with the Taylors. Her saddy would be completed Monday and she would move in.

"Might be a long time again before you'll see me," she told Mark jokingly, as he stopped, apparently casually, to talk with her and the Taylors.

"Doesn't that call for some sort of celebration, then?" Mark asked, instantly seizing his opportunity. "There's a dance here tonight over the store. I'd like very much to take you—that is, if it's all right with the Taylors."

Mark marveled afterward that he was able to say all this so quickly when his heart seemed to pound till it hurt. He had wanted to call her "Carrie," too, but somehow he couldn't quite bring himself to it.

"All right with us," Mrs. Taylor raised her brows. "Wouldn't be all right with us if you didn't." She winked at Ed, who promptly winked his wife the Taylors winked, too. If Ed winked could "scare up a clean shirt" somewhere for him.

CARRIE and the Taylors were ready and waiting at Sioux Springs House when Mark came for them. Carrie wore the same white dress she had on that first day Mark saw her. Looking at her, Mark was speechless for a minute. "You sure look nice," he told her, awkwardly.

The Taylors had put on their Sunday clothes and they looked little like the homesteaders who had come to town earlier that day. Mark's vest, white boiled shirt and gray suit had wrought as great a change.

Carrie was happier than he had ever seen her as they walked down Main Street to the dance hall over Bill Williams' general store. Together they made a striking picture—Mark, tall, imposing, handsome; Carrie on his arm, gay, laughing, bonneted head held high. Intuitively, denim-clad homesteaders and booted freighters reached respectfully for their hats as the couple passed, gathered in curious little knots in their wake.

The party was well under way when Mark led the way up an outside stairs to the low-ceilinged dance hall. A solitary fiddle whined above the din of dancing and conversation. Mark recognized the "Arkansas Traveler."

The small room was hot, crowded, lanky, awkward young "soddies" lined the dance floor, packed to overflowing. Carrie saw quickly the men outnumbered the women three to one, felt every eye upon her.

They swung out into the jostling, milling crowd, Carrie in Mark's arms—for the first time. It was unbelievably thrilling.

"Mark," Carrie smiled up into his face. "I hope we get along better than some of the couples I see here tonight." She tossed her head, indicating a bewhiskered freighter who was stomping about the floor pumping his partner's arm for dear life. And there were more like him. They laughed together. The noise grew louder and louder, they moved faster and faster, bumping, shoving, twisting, dodging. Never had Carrie attended a dance like this and yet, never had she been happier.

They came back to the Taylors breathless, Carrie flushed, wilted; Mark perspiring, more handsome, Carrie thought, than ever.

"Well," boomed Ed Taylor, "guess it's safe for us to tackle, now that you and Mark got out alive," and added, "but don't think, Mark Deuel, you're gonna have all them dances to yourself." He winked broadly as the solitary fiddler, mounted on a box at the end of the room, struck up again.

with "Devil's Dream" and the din was resumed.

THEY danced till midnight. Mark and Carrie, danced waltzes and two-steps, and the schottische and the square dance, whirling until it seemed they might drop, and loving every precious minute of it. Mark holding Carrie in his arms, drew her closer on the last waltz, till he felt the sweetness of her golden hair against his cheek, her face close to his. Somehow, Mark knew intuitively Carrie Lane was as tense, breathless as he.

And then it happened. It was a tag waltz. Mark felt a heavy slap on his shoulder and turned to face Ashton Oaks. Instantly, Mark saw the man was drunk, reeling. He tried to ignore the agent, but it was too late. Carrie saw him, too, went white.

"Sorry, my dance," Oaks said through thick lips, and moved between Carrie and Mark.

"Sorry, but it isn't," said Mark quietly, trying to move out onto the floor again. Oaks shoved Mark aside roughly, taking Carrie in his arms. Instantly, the other dancers, sensing trouble, drew back, left the three conspicuously in the center of the floor.

The music screeched on, but the room grew quiet, tense.

"Oaks," Mark wheeled on him, "if you are a gentleman, you will please let my partner alone." Mark moved to lead Carrie from the floor.

It was the least he might have said, but it was too much. Grasping Carrie tighter, Oaks stood there for a second, staggering, sneering. Then he said it, so loud he could be heard across the room—"Your partner? You might be interested to know, Mr. Deuel, I spent the afternoon with her out at Rock Creek."

Mark never recalled exactly what happened after that. He lunged in blind fury at Ashton Oaks, fists swinging, seizing him by the throat, while Carrie, screaming, ran back to the Taylors. The crowd closed in and it was over as quickly as it began. Panting, his collar torn open, Oaks was hurled from the dance hall by brawny homesteaders. The fiddler struck up "Devil's Dream," someone yelled, "Supper—come and get it fore we throw it out!" Carrie and Mark were caught in the rush with the Taylors and 200 others.

It was an unforgettable experience and Carrie, still shaking, clinging to Mark's arm as they passed along the long table, felt they had not seen the end of it.

The way to a man's heart

(Yes, Through His Stomach, as the Old Saw Says)

A man truly belongs to the animal kingdom when he sits down to a well-set table!

There's that aroma rising from an oozing roast. And the smoke-steam from hot biscuits and melting butter. And the bright colors of fresh vegetables and the tart salad. And--sure--a challenging mountain of fluffy, white mashed potatoes with brown, rich gravy to crawl over it!

Back of this invitation to hearty eating is the story of two sharp eyes. They belong to the housewife who planned and prepared the meal. She practiced considerable wizardry in the kitchen, of course. But long before the food even reached her house she had assured the success of her meal.

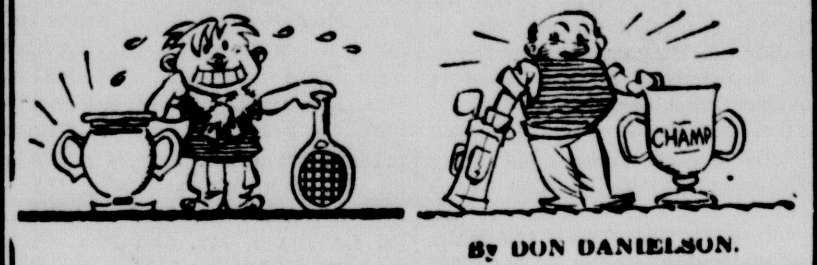

She read the food advertisements in this newspaper. She selected each item of her meal with studied care. And she set a table fit for a king . . . on an every-day allowance! By reading the advertisements she served well . . . and saved money!

STERLING RACES ARE POSTPONED

Dixon race fans who may have been planning to attend the midget auto and jalopy events at Speed Bowl park in Sterling tomorrow and Labor Day, will be disappointed to learn that due to rainy weather and poor condition of the track, the races have been postponed. No dates have been set for the events, pending the improvement of the track.

TO MANAGE NEW BOWLING ALLEYS

Bill Hanson, Dixon bowler who has served as secretary of the local leagues, will leave September 9 for Rockford where he will manage the new Mayer's Recreation of ten alleys. Bill organized the bowling tournaments here last year and was named to continue as secretary for the 1940-41 season. He will take his family to Rockford Oct. 1.

Major League Pennant Troubles Are Not Ironed Out in Past Week

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

The weather man hasn't been very helpful this week in the efforts of the major league baseball clubs to iron out their pennant problems, but there is no indication that they could have accomplished anything even if he had been.

The Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers collided in a two game series that ought to have provided fireworks and instead fizzled like a damp fuse. The two games were split and the only difference they made in the National League flag chase was that Brooklyn, failing to improve itself, muffed a chance it could ill afford in the shortening days of the season.

The three top teams in the American League continued their parade with no important change. It now appears that neither Cleveland's back nor Bobby Feller's heart was broken in that hoisterous series the New York Yankees swept last week-end. Feller gave the Indians their second straight victory last night, 4-2, at Chicago after saving their scalps with a relief appearance at Washington on Monday.

The White Sox have been close cousins of the Tribe all season, handing over 13 out of 17 games and the result last night was not surprising even for the 44,877 fans who watched the affair.

Permits Dozen Hits Feller permitted a dozen hits to eight Cleveland collected off Lefty Thornton Lee, but Jeff Heath gave him a three-run lead with a homer in the first frame and the Van Meter speedster simply coasted home—as tight as an old collar in the pinches. He struck out 10.

It was Feller's 23rd victory and lifted the Tribe to 2½ games ahead of Detroit and 5 over New York, both of whom were idle. The Boston Red Sox also closed in on the Yankees from behind by winning the Philadelphia Athletics through a 5-4 wringer. Ted Williams knocked the winning run across with a triple in the seventh inning to capitalize on Joe Judge's fine relief pitching, which amounted to the A's only two hits in the inning.

Washington triumphed over Cincinnati's champions, 6-2, in the only game in the National League.

The weak-hitting Reds numbered a home-run and six doubles among 10 hits they collected off Luke Hamlin, but they couldn't get them together and were chopped to pieces by the steady assault of the Dodgers led by Dolph Camilli. He hit a homer and two singles, each good for a run, and Rookie Pete Reiser also hit for the circuit off Gene Thompson.

This left the Reds 7½ games in front.

ALL-STAR GAME UNITES LEAGUE IN ONE PURPOSE

Tomorrow's Baseball Tilt Will Be Fans' Delight; Starts at 2:30 p. m.

"Take Me Out to the Ball Game," the traditional song of the great national pastime, will echo tomorrow in the hearts of over five thousand fans of the Illinois State League who are expected to cram Reynolds Field in the afternoon for the biggest baseball classic in the city's history.

Some will take the high road; others will take the low road, but they will all converge at 2:30 o'clock for the cry of "Play Ball!" as the All-Stars of the league, chosen by thousands of fans, meet the strong Peru Merchants.

Nothing has been overlooked in an effort to make tomorrow's game a fan's delight. The best talent of the eight-team league will be on parade against a worthy foe. And these players were all chosen by the fans themselves—it is THEIR team!

Manager Hi Emmert of the All-Stars has named his assistants, batting orders have been announced and the umpires chosen. Little remains but for the weatherman to smile on the event.

Paul Potts to Announce Paul Potts, popular local sports announcer who combines the talents of Charlie Grimm and Bob Elson, will be at the public address system to handle interviews with the players and staff and to give an accurate and interesting account of the game.

Manager Sammy Cosgrove of the Peru Merchants will probably use the following lineup for his game: Bansch, lf; Panish, 2b; Marchiorietti, ss; Arboit, rf; Brovelli, c; Herman, cf; Meyer, 3b; Bobbio, 1b and Jones to pitch.

Representing the All-Stars will be a pitching staff composed of Eckhardt of Steward, Knauer of West Brooklyn, Spolar of Walton and Howe of Dixon. The battery will be completed by Full of Walton and Windmiller of Dixon. Walter Studzinski of Maytown who polled the greatest number of votes of the All-Stars will act as captain.

Tough Opposition The Peru Merchants, regarded as among the toughest ball clubs in this section of the state, humiliated a privately picked "all-star" team earlier in the season. Wiping out that stigma will be the goal of tomorrow's All-Star team.

Receipts from the classic will be split on a 60-40 basis with the merchants and the league's share of the money will be used to pay expenses for transportation of players with all remaining to be split among the players.

Swelling tomorrow's crowd in Dixon's beautiful park, the finest in the league, will be the fans of the Knacks, Shabbona, Amboy, Lee, Steward, Walton, Maytown and West Brooklyn—and for once they are gathered as one happy family. They will have pushed aside the struggles in the league's "pennant race" and for once will be yelling, arguing and pulling together.

Support Your Team! In the interests of the league, which this year has enjoyed a greater popularity than ever before, in the interests of the players who have given you your entertainment and in the interests of the great American game, it behooves us all to support our team tomorrow afternoon.

Attending the game will be three major and minor league scouts and it was to get their opinion of the league's stars that The Telegraph and assisting county newspapers conducted the all-stars poll.

Let everyone who voted, attend the game!

GEORGIAN WINS SOUTHPAWS' GOLF TOURNAMENT FRIDAY

St. Louis, Aug. 31—(AP)—Alvin Everett of Rome, Ga., a right-hander until a severe burn weakened his grip, shot as good golf as you will see most anywhere as he defeated Sammy Albert of Chicago, 5 and 4, yesterday to win the national left-handers' tournament and become the first player ever to capture the event twice in a row.

Albert was the tournament medalist by virtue of a brilliant three under par 68 on one round, but Everett, one of the longest drivers in the amateur ranks, was too much for him in match play competition.

All-Stars Prepare for Tomorrow's Game

—Telegraph Photo

In preparation for the big day tomorrow, the All-Star baseball players chosen by vote of 5,344 fans held their first practice session yesterday afternoon at Reynolds Field. The All-Stars were slated for another drill this afternoon. Pictured here are a few of the players as they gathered for yesterday's session. Back row—Left to right: Miller of Dixon, Wally of Amboy, Manager Emmert of Dixon, Powers of Amboy, Coach McGrath of Amboy, Drew of Walton, Foster of West Brooklyn and Kuhn of Dixon.

Revenge Game Is One of Softball Features Sunday

With the first of September come thoughts of gridiron engagements and topcoats, but as summer lingers on, so are the softball features continuing in an ever-increasing array of talent in games at the Airport park.

Tomorrow night's tilts are no let-down with the season drawing to its windup. They represent some of the best softball talent to be presented all season. In the first game, starting at 7:30 p. m., the newly-garbed I. N. U. team will play the United Cigar.

Early in the league season it was the Cigar team which handed the I. N. U. boys a defeat. Tomorrow night's game, fed by such fires of revenge, is certain to be an outstanding event. Lyle (No-Hit-Fame) Fordham will do the twirling for the I. N. U. Jensen (also a no-bitter) will hurl for the United.

In the afterpiece, another well-matched contest, the James Billards team of league all-star players will clash with the Freeport Kraft Cheese team. Pitching for the Dixon boys will be Lefty Johnson who can starve out more batters than a continental plague.

MORE THAN 20,000 ATTEND FARM SPORTS FESTIVAL

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 31—(AP)—More than 20,000 persons crowded into Memorial Stadium at the University of Illinois last night to witness a patriotic pageant and music presentations which climaxed the first day's program of the fifth annual Illinois farm sports festival.

The final competitions in the various events will be held today. Earl Smith, Chicago, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, said in a brief address at the opening of last night's program that "through these sports events and friendly competition offered by the farm festival, we hope we are making our contribution to the generations yet unborn."

Dean H. P. Rusk of the Illinois College of Agriculture declared that "so long as young America can play, and as long as this play is tempered with good sportsmanship, so long will we be able to keep alive an important element making for democracy."

The festival is sponsored by the Illinois Agricultural Association and county farm and home bureaus in cooperation with the University of Illinois agricultural extension service and the Prairie Farmer.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press) Dolph Camilli, Dodgers—Hit a homer and two singles to score three runs toward victory over Reds.

Joe Heving and Ted Williams, Red Sox—Former pitched two-hit ball for 5½ innings in relief and latter led batting attack with double and triple, knocking in deciding run against A's. Bob Feller and Jess Heath, Indians—Former scored 23rd victory by being tight in pinches with 10 strikeouts against White Sox while latter provided three runs with first inning homer.

PAIRINGS MADE FOR TOURNAMENT AT PLUM HOLLOW

Men of Club To Start Play Tomorrow For Championship

Plum Hollow club house rang with praise last night as the members admired the trophy cup donated by Frank Randall which will be presented to the club champion in the forthcoming club tournament during the month of September.

Rules and regulations were made up for the tournament with Elwin Wadsworth, Fred Hofmann and Frank Randall acting as referees. Details are published on bulletin at the club house.

The tournament will be played in three classes with three prizes for each class. Pairings for the qualifying rounds are as follows with about seventy-five percent arranging their play for the double holiday.

B. J. Frazer vs J. McAllister and Joe Miller vs Bill Witzleb.

Lee Rintoul vs Clarence Ballar and Fred Hofmann vs Ken Lair.

Oscar Witzleb vs Em Rorer and Harold Rorer vs Don Danielson.

J. Furlong vs Spud Ryan and Dan Brannigan vs Ralph Clark.

Frank Robinson vs Ralph Barlow and E. Swan vs Earl Pelton.

Ed Hilliker vs Don Hilliker and Clyde Yount vs W. Dysart.

Russ Brown vs Ralph Salzman and Fred Davis vs Dr. Legner.

Jim Palmer vs Arnold Schultz and Ken Gross vs Ed Worley.

E. Wadsworth vs Bill Rhodes and Ralph Gonnerman vs Frank Randall.

Lowell Martin vs Bob Axline and George Scott vs D. Reis.

Dr. Legner vs Leo Miller and W. Flannigan vs Tom Murphy.

Lyle Meyers vs Wayne Stewart and George Campbell vs Hank Jensen.

Don Bush vs Ray Glessner and George Prescott vs Jack Buccannan.

Ken Emmert vs Ed Gerdes and Dale Senneff vs John Lax.

Byron Etnyre vs Dan Strub and Larry Poole vs Gene Goddard.

Charles Davis vs Ken Cook and Bob Grow vs Bert Meeks.

Anyone wishing to make up a four-some over the holiday may make arrangements and get in their qualifying rounds. All matches must be played out by Sept. 23.

Due to the rains and earnest work of the care-takers, Frank Randall reports the course is in fine shape and should enjoy a heavy play over the double holiday.

Lights at Dixon Athletic Field Tested Last Eve

Football fans who drove around the Dixon athletic field last night as workmen of the Illinois Northern Utilities company tested the new lights project, should be rushing today to places where football tickets are on sale. The brilliance of the spectacle should be an excellent stimulus to the ducat-selling campaign.

The 40 huge bulbs were adjusted last night to erase all shadows from the field in the first night that the lights have been tried. There, in the presence of members of the Board of Education, coaching staff and ticket-selling committee, a dream came true as Dixon high school joined the others in the North Central Illinois conference with a lighted field as good, if not better, than any in the circuit.

The prologue of light was an indication of the brilliance which Dixon fans will witness both in football and program when the project is dedicated on the night of September 13 in the game with Mt. Morris.

Season tickets, selling for $150 and entitling the purchasers to four home games, may be purchased at The Dixon Evening Telegraph offices, Isador Eichler's clothing store, James Billards, Covert's Cigar store, Hill Brothers grocery and from members of Paul Potts' committee.

REYNOLDS WIN CITY SOFTBALL TITLE LAST EVE

United Cigar Defeats Freemans in Curtain Lifter, 5 to 1

The Reynolds wiremen who won the city softball league title, last night added another gem to their crown by snagging the city championship in the play-off series by dropping the High Life, 6 to 5 in the wind-up league game.

In the battle for third place honors the United Cigar split the series by defeating Freemans, 5 to 1.

In the first inning the championship game the wiremen scored four runs in the opening canto when Flanagan doubled, reached third on Littrell's error. Murphy walked and stole second. Page doubled to score Murphy when Flanagan doubled, reached third on Littrell's error. Murphy walked and stole second. Page doubled to score Murphy and Flanagan and Page went to third on a passed ball. Miller walked and Page scored when Bohken threw to Krug trying for Page. Krug dropped the ball. Miller scored after the catch of Carlson's fly to shortfield.

Third Inning In the third inning for the champions Flanagan singled and went to second on passed ball from where he scored on Page's single. In the eighth frame Murphy singled and went to second on Fane's error when the latter dropped Miller's fly.

The High Life scored two runs in the first stanza when Littrell singled, E. Carlson followed with a single of his own and went to second as Littrell took third on Cox's error. Littrell scored when Randall grounded out from pitcher to first. Carlson tagged after the catch of Slain's fly to left field.

In the seventh inning E. Carlson went to third on Cinnamon's error of Randall's fly and the runner rounded second. Slain was walked intentionally and the bases were filled. Krug fanned, Fane singled scoring Carlson and Randall and Ogle struck out. Slain stole home when Murphy threw the ball back to Fordham. It was the tying run of the game.

Exciting Eighth In an exciting eighth inning the High Life filled the bases with two walks and Carlson's single, but no one scored. Reynolds had the bases loaded in the ninth and didn't score.

Fordham did the pitching for the champions and allowed seven hits in nine innings, walked three and struck out ten. Helmick was the losing pitcher and he was rapped for nine hits, walked six and struck out one.

Notes concerning the attractions:
Prof. Quiz will appear on the program again this year. Prizes amounting to $10 will be awarded to the persons answering the questions. This sure is a chance to earn "easy money" anyone can enter. Lots of fun.

The Eakle family and their eight children of Waterman will present an hour's program Monday evening. This talented family will be well worth hearing and seeing. They have a special lighting effect which they use on the platform which adds much to the effectiveness of their performance. The group has appeared as a drum and bugle corps at several Legion conventions and fairs. They come highly recommended.

Tuesday night—The doll buggy parade which always pleases everyone young and old. Mrs. Kathryn Herbst is chairman of this event again this year. She is very anxious that every child in the community who has a doll buggy to take part, it has been arranged for each one to receive a prize. In addition prizes will be awarded for the most attractively decorated buggy, the oldest buggy and the oldest doll. The parade will start at 7:15 Tuesday evening. Those taking part will gather at the south end of Main street. The line of march will be from John Vogt's store to F. J. Blocher's store, then to the bandstand where they will be presented. Those wishing to enter should call Mrs. Kathryn Herbst.

The Amateur hour will be another big event again this year. This will no doubt draw one of the largest crowd of the festival. Mrs. Lorraine Schmucker has this feature in charge and states that no one is going to be disappointed with this program. Many have so far registered and she is hopeful of more. Anyone can enter that who wish. Call or write to Mrs. By Miss Georgia Jewett.

Wednesday evening will be given over to the group of entertainers from WROK, The Barn Dance Gang. This includes all and every kind of entertainment.

There will be the flower show sponsored by the Woman's Club in the John Vogt building. The live stock show every evening with a parade Wednesday evening. The agriculture show, will of course, draw a large crowd. A few of the rules will be of interest. 1. Exhibitors must live within a radius of ten miles of this place. 2. Entries will be received from Monday, Sept. 2nd, starting at noon and closing Tuesday noon, Sept. 3rd. 3. All entries must be grown by the exhibitor. 4. Exhibitors will be allowed only one entry in each class. 5. Paper plates will be furnished for vegetables, with the exception of number 8. 6. All crops and vegetables must be grown in 1940, with the exception of soybeans and shelled corn, which shall be 1939. 7. Entries must remain in place until Wednesday evening at 9 P. M. at which time premiums will be awarded. 8. All entries shall be brought to the William Herbst Implement building.

There will be three rides, including the ferris wheel. And concessions of all kinds. Many of the local people are taking a booth and will have just a lot of things to amuse the crowd.

Gone to Ohio

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hood and Leland Blocher left Friday for Ohio where they will spend the week end and Labor Day with friends and relatives. They will be accompanied home by Mrs. Blocher and little daughter Delores who have been visiting relatives in Ohio for sometime.

Methodist Church

William L. Manny, minister.

The service of divine worship at 10 a. m. The pastor will give a Labor Sunday message. Church services are being held in the chapel because of the redecoration of the sanctuary. It is planned to worship in the sanctuary on Rally Sunday, September 29.

Children also come to church at 10 a. m. and after attending the worship part of the service they pass to their departments and classes. The church school is under the supervision of D. Cameron Findlay.

There will be a meeting of the official board at the church on Tuesday, September 3rd, at 7:30 p. m. All members are urged to be present.

The Methodist church is now raising a fund of $550 to paint the exterior of the church building and to complete the other improvements which are being made. Since the building was damaged by fire last October $6,000 has been spent on restoration, redecoration and improvement. Most of this money was paid to the church by the insurance company, some of it was received as a legacy, and the balance was contributed by the Ladies Aid Society. The campaign for the $550 was announced last Friday.

On Sunday morning, without further solicitation $154 was subscribed. It is planned to secure the balance in pledges by next Sunday. The stewards are now canvassing the membership for subscriptions, and a report of progress will be made at the morning service.

Church of the Brethren

Foster E. Staller, pastor.

The only service this Sunday will be the Sunday school session which will convene at 9:30 a. m. This is as customary, it being the Sunday of the district conference which this year is being held at Elgin Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The Young People's Bible Study group will meet at the home of Earl and Roy McNutt Monday evening at 7:30.

The Ladies Aid Society meets Wednesday afternoon.

The mid-week service will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Brethren Home.

Sunday, September 8, we shall return to the ten o'clock hour as the time for the beginning of our services. By that time, school having opened, all of us should be back to our places in the services and activities of the church.

Trinity Lutheran Church

Calendar of services beginning Sunday, August 25, 1940:
10:00 a. m. the service and sermon (Labor Sunday sermon) "A man and his brothers' burdens".

11:15 a. m. Sunday, the Church school.

8:00 p. m. Sunday, State Lutheran League convention at St. John's, Sterling. F. Eppinger Reinartz will be the Sunday evening speaker.

7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Meeting of the Church Council.

8:00 p. m. Wednesday, Meeting of the Committee on Brotherhood activities.

2:30 p. m. Thursday, Meeting of the Ladies Aid Society at the church.

6:30 p. m. Thursday, Banquet for the Church school workers and the members of the choir. Dr. Armin G. Weng, president, Illinois Synod will be the speaker.

The month of September is given over to the Promotional program of the parish education board. Watch for pastoral letter with bulletins and folders. This should reach the membership by Wednesday or Thursday.

You will find this church an easy place in which to worship your God. You are a stranger here but once. Ask the man who attends, he knows.

C. H. Hightower, pastor.

Methodist Church

Paul G. Dibble, Pastor
"The Fruits of Life" will be the sermon subject for Sunday morning.

If you enjoy an hour of quiet meditation, you are invited to worship with us Sunday morning at eleven o'clock.

Strangers are strangers only once, we will make you welcome. On Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 4th at 2:30 o'clock there will be a meeting of all the Methodist women of the community. This includes non-members who think of this as their church. This is a charter meeting for the election of officers for the new Women's Society for Christian service.

Sunday school at 10 A. M.
Worship service at 11 A. M.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

JUSTICE

Impartiality is the life of justice, as justice is of all good government.

—Burke

Justice is itself the great standing policy of civil society; and any departure from it, under any circumstance, lies under the suspicion of being no policy at all.

Justice delayed, is justice denied.

—Gladstone

Justice and truth make man free, injustice and error enslave him.

—Mary Baker Eddy

God gives manhood but one clue to success, utter and exact justice; that he guarantees, shall be always expediency.

—Wendell Phillips

There is no virtue so truly great and godlike as justice.

—Addison

ILLINOISIAN'S DUTY

Jacksonville, Ill.—(AP)—

Addressing a Morgan county rally, Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for governor, declared it was the "civic duty" of Illinoisians to "turn away the finger of ridicule the nation is pointing at Illinois" by sweeping "corrupt bosses" out of power.

Canada is replacing Denmark as the source of England's bacon.

Illinois Part in Defense Program of Major Import

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

Chicago, Aug. 31—(AP)— A 43-year-old Chicago lawyer, unable to obtain a commission in the sufficiently-offered National Guard, enlists as a private.

A Chicago policeman, with all sorts of ideas for preparedness tumbling about in his mind, suggests that state, county and city police units be welded together more closely under single leadership as a protective step.

Clubs and societies offer to help finance the training of recruits in the Army, Navy or Air service. Nearly 200 business and professional men of Chicago and vicinity, many of them prominent in their spheres and some of them gray-haired and no longer lissom, volunteer for military instruction in the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Fort Sheridan. They live by strict Army schedules and pay their own way.

World war veterans make haste to serve where they are best suited in the marshalling of resources to provide invulnerable American armor.

In one way or another, practically all Illinois is echeloned for national defense.

The supports forming to give greater potency to the advanced lines—military, naval, aeronautical and industrial—represent most strata of life in the state.

At every point of mobilization, whatever its nature, precautions are being taken to Scotch Fifth Columnists.

Acting upon a request of the Army and Navy, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has undertaken a survey of industrial plants to guard against espionage and sabotage.

Working with the intelligence departments of both the Army and the Navy and with the state department, the FBI also has held a series of conferences with the administrative heads of police departments—350 of them in Illinois. The purpose of the meetings was to advise the police leaders of general preparedness plans and to create an effective police line of defense.

Several hundred agents will be added to the FBI staff nationally. Chicago, a key point, will get a considerable number of the new men.

James P. Allman, police commissioner of Chicago, has called up an emergency force of 1,600 divided into 12 companies organized along military lines, to serve as guards in industrial areas if necessary.

In order to reduce the chances of sabotage at the Rock Island arsenal, all motor traffic on the grounds, apart from the coming and going of workmen and business visitors, has been prohibited. The action affects thousands of persons who used the government island as a thoroughfare between the tri-cities, as well as numerous sightseers.

The Illinois postoffice system started this week the task of registering and fingerprinting aliens. Under the law, all postoffices in county seats handle the mechanics of the registration. The work is to be completed in four months.

The Illinois department of the American Legion, following a course recommended by the national commander, is cooperating with the federal and state governments in home defense preparations.

A part of the activity among Illinois Legionnaires is the formation of a group known as the American Column. The first unit was organized in Bloomington; subsequently units developed in Chicago and Waukegan. Members of several downstate Legion posts are understood to be considering the organization of their own sections of the American Column.

The National Safety Council will open its congress in Chicago in October with "safety for national defense" the keynote.

The organization, in pre-convention declarations, urges a national unity which will close every avenue of waste, and prevent confusion and delay. To the Councils way of thinking, unintended sabotage through fumbling is a greater enemy than the destructiveness of unfriendly agents. The nation cannot tolerate congestion or checks, either on the assembly line or on a truck highway, safety officers assert.

The Council believes that all persons actively concerned with safety can contribute to the defense movement by: correcting the defects and deficiencies in the nation's highway system; intensifying efforts to train motor vehicle drivers, in high schools, in Civilian Conservation Corps Camps and through adult classes; helping to make highway policing more efficient; making thorough competent vehicle inspection possible; and aiding general public education.

Work on the highways will be one of the principal jobs of the WPA in Illinois. State Administrator Charles E. Miner has announced that the WPA is ready to start a $7,000,000 project for the

Memorial of French-Colonial Empire

The original powder house, still standing in Fort Chartres State Park, on the Mississippi river in Randolph County, is 188 years old, the oldest building in the Middle West.

Of all the great Mississippi valley what is now central and southern Illinois most impressed the earliest French explorers, and their tales of the fertility of the soil, the broad flowing rivers, the abundant timber, and profusion of plant and animal life they brought back with them started a wave of emigration which resulted in the colonization of the Illinois country by the French. Here they held sway from the start of the 18th century until military control of the territory was wrested from them by the British.

In 1703 the first permanent settlement in the upper Mississippi valley was made by the French at Kaskaskia, at the confluence of the Kaskaskia and Mississippi rivers. It became a frontier metropolis, important in trade and shipping, and maintained its prominence for more than a century. Above the town rises a commanding bluff, and here the French garrison erected a log fortress. This was captured by the British in 1765, who in turn relinquished it to the victorious George Rogers Clark when he reached Kaskaskia, with his Kentucky "Long Knives" on his expedition to gain Illinois for the fledgling United States in 1778.

Kaskaskia continued to be one of the leading towns in Illinois, and in 1818, when Illinois was admitted to the Union, it became the first capital of the state. In 1820 the capital was moved to Vandalia, and Kaskaskia began its decline. Shortly after the turn of the present century, the narrow strip of land which separated the Mississippi and Kaskaskia river, a few miles upstream from Kaskaskia, permitting the rolling tide of the Father of Waters to course down the bed of the Kaskaskia.

The relentless flood of water wiped out the remaining buildings in Kaskaskia, among them, the home of Shadrach Bond, first governor of Illinois. The home-stand of Pierre Menard, first lieutenant governor, built on higher ground on the hillside below the site of Fort Kaskaskia, escaped destruction, and today the Menard Homestead is maintained by the state as a memorial, open daily to the public. Many of the original furnishings and utensils are on display here.

Of Fort Kaskaskia, nothing remains today but the earthenwork ramparts upon which the stockade once stood. Visitors can stand on the highest point in the area, now a state park and visualize the fortress as it once appeared, by following the outlines of the trenches and breastworks. Back from the edge of the bluff is Garrison Hill cemetery, where are buried Pierre Menard and other pioneer residents of the town.

A few miles farther north in Randolph county, on the bank of the Mississippi, stands the remains of Fort Chartres. This outpost of military forces of European arms, was more substantially built, being constructed of native stone. But the passing of the years, and the combined action of the elements and combatting forces, leveled the walls and barracks, leaving only a single building standing. This was the original powder house, which because of the massive construction designed to protect its explosive contents, withstood everything.

A unique method has been used to give visitors a picture of the fort and its buildings. The foundations of the walls and barracks extended several feet into the ground, and although the above-ground construction had been leveled, the foundations remained. The entire parade ground has been excavated to a depth of two feet, exposing the original foundations and wall. The original drainage system is seen in several places where it too has been excavated. The stone gateway, with massive wooden doors, and surmounted by replicas of ancient cannon, has been reconstructed, and reproductions of two of the smaller original buildings form the custodians headquarters. A picnic ground nearby provides facilities for visitors to Fort Chartres State Park.

Improvement of military importance. Miner said that 8,000 WPA workers now were employed on national defense projects in the state, and that 1,800 others were being trained for defense employment in industry. The approved projects important as part of the preparedness movement include work at Scott Field, Belleville; Chanute Field, Rantoul; Fort Sheridan, the Rock Island arsenal, the Savanna ordnance depot, Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Camp Grant, Camp Logan, Camp Lincoln and various National Guard armories.

The Illinois State Federation of Labor avowedly recognizes the needs of the times and will cooperate with the government in carrying out whatever may be necessary to make the defense program successful. A more specific statement of policy is expected to be made by the federation at its convention in Rockford starting Sept. 16.

Instruments designed to give the United States' military and naval machine greater effectiveness are being fashioned in Illinois laboratories. Among them is an aerial torpedo which observes movements and flashes them on a screen at military headquarters miles away. The torpedo was developed by U. A. Sanabria, Chicago television pioneer.

In the midst of this enormous activity, with the echoes of war abroad and talk of threatened danger to his homeland reaching his ears at every turn, the ordinary citizen of Illinois feels that he is riding a pinwheel. Yet he has a saving fortune alive. He understands that the state and the nation have a monumental job to perform, and he'll go along doing the best he can.

The expressed convictions of dozens of average men and women—factory and railroad workers, street car conductors, hotel clerks, life guards, farmers, suburbanites eager to reap the little harvests from their kitchen gardens, housewives, waitresses, stage hands and others—were epitomized in the substance of an opinion voiced by one among them:

"It's no time for squabbling, nor to get excited and do wrong things. We've had our share of troubles here, but we've still got something worth hanging on to, and if it's necessary for all of us to go into the army to keep it, why okay."

The ordinary citizen is not marking time. He'd like to know what the score is, if he should be summoned to action. Therefore, he studies.

Death on Battle Field May Come As Real Blessing

Raleigh, N. C. Aug. 31—(AP)— To some, death will come quickly and perhaps with but a flash of pain. A bullet between the eyes; a direct hit by a bomb; a crumpled airplane whirling toward the earth.

But the victims of the battlefields—even the soldiers who die lingeringly—may be the lucky ones, an outstanding biochemist said today.

For vitamins—or rather the lack of them—will doom thousands of the survivors of Europe's war to blindness, stunted growth, respiratory infection, and slow and agonized death, he added.

Thus, ironically, the slacker of this war may have more to fear from living than from a hero's death.

The biochemist, Prof. G. Howard Satterfield of N. C. State College, has made a survey of the malnutrition which tags at the heels of war, and is convinced that the lack of vitamins will take an unprecedented heavy toll in Europe.

So much manpower has been engaged in the present war, he said, that gardening and farming have been neglected, and a shortage of fruits, leafy vegetables, and milk products is certain to result.

Others Will Suffer. Even nations which have large food concentrations in storage will suffer from lack of vitamins, he continued, because vitamin-rich foods are the most perishable, and storage cannot prevent deterioration.

To picture what may follow in the wake of Europe's war, Professor Satterfield cited these examples of nutritional deficiencies in other wars:

Neutral Denmark was stripped of its butter and much of its milk during the World war. The Danes were forced to use skimmed milk and butter substitutes without vitamins, and as a result the health of the nation was impaired.

In the Russo-Japanese war, half of the 17,000 men in the besieged garrison at Port Arthur were down with scurvy at one time because vitamin C was lacking from their diet.

In the World war, a garrison at Ket-El-Amara in Mesopotamia was rapidly being cut down by scurvy. But the men saved their lives by eating two ounces of grass daily.

Some vitamins can be produced synthetically, but the cost is prohibitive for use on a large scale, he said.
